Germany---Cologue and its Great Cathedral, the Rhine and its Busimess and Beauty, Industry, Prosperity.

We now come to the German Empire, the home of factories and industries. You will find Germans and their products in every part of the civilized world. They have a world wide reputation for their industries and great schools of learning. We first land at Cologne. This city is situated on the lower course of the river. It is the sixth city in the German Empire, having a population of 360,000, and is one of the oldest cities of the empire, dating back to before Christ. The city reached its greatest stage of prosperity more than 500 years piness, then for a moment my age. It is today an industrious, prosperous city. The things of greatest interest here are the cathedral, the big bridge across the Rhine, the zoological gardens, theaters, and industries.

The great attraction of Cologne is her great cathedral, one of the finest in all Europe. This church was begun nearly 2,000 years ago and was not completed until 1884, so a long history is attached to the building of the wonderful structure. Architects claim that the structure is almost perfect. Thousands visit Cologue yearly just to see her wonderful cathedral. The two spires rise 507 feet from the ground and are covered with figured ornaments which project out nearly a foot. The top of the building seems to be a mass of spires and ornaments and the sides are covered with figures of saints and great men and women, also of beasts and

The inside measurements of the church are 390 feet in width, 444 feet in length, and 200 feet from floor to ceiling. The stained glass windows cost fortunes. The organ, built in 1572, has 41/2 octaves, 42 stops, and 5 couplers. The altar is very fine, though the furniture away from the altar is very common, mostly old benches. The chandaliers are very large, candles being burned most of the

An attractive feature of the cathedral consists of large figures of eight of the apostles in a prominent place at the top. At noon as the clock is striking the hour a door in the cupola flies open and the four evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John, come marching out in front of the altar. They present a very lifelike appearance. After a moment or two they retire. This attractive performance is witnessed daily by many people and leaves a lasting impression.

The next place of interest was the long bridge, upon which are statues of Frederick IV and William I. This bridge, built in 1860, rests on six large rock piers. The bridge proper is made of iron and is 1332 feet long. Many other places of interest are pointed out, such as the churches of Saint Andreas, Saint Mary, Ascencion, Saint Ursula, Saint Gereon, Apostles, Saint Peter's and many others, all having ancient history to be a healthy man."-Youth's attached to them. For instance, the church of Saint Ursula contains in glass cases the bones of 11,000 virgins who came to Cologne with the holy Ursula, a British princess, where they suffered the death of martyra. seems to reign. Cologue is the favorite place to start on a trip up the famous Rhine. It was Sunday morning early, and the last day of the season for the big boats to run. From Cologue to Miance the Rhine is a beautiful stream about the size of the Ohio. The lower part of the Rhine country is level. The banks are low, giving the visitor a fine view. Every few section. that are served on these boats, and enjoyed her jolly company, he has not seen all of Germany.

Now, my New Mexico friend, compare this scene with another. It was a perfect day to be on and beautiful. The long table was spread on the upper deck under a canopy. The towns and cities were so thick that their suburbs seemed to overlap each other. The flying passenger trains on both sides of the river were whistling in and out of stations. The river swarmed with boats loaded with passengers. The singing and waving of handkerchiefs denoted much happiness. As I sat down to this long clean table loaded down with almost everything good to eat and drink, a bright happy face at each place at the cable, and everybody seeming to want to do eh?" something to add to others' hapmind recalled other scenes on the frontiers of New Mexico and Arizona. Our spreads were made on the shadeless, burning plains or among the mountains where hungry wolf or bear sharpened his appetite at every mouthful he saw us take. Here on ground infested with snakes, tarantulas, centipedes, and buffalo chips, keeping our guns close at hand and a sharp lookout for the halfbaked bread and pig bosom and felt glad that we were alive.

Simple Country Living.

A man may enjoy bounding health and know very little about the cause of his happiness, and alas, a man may suffer all the woes of dyspepsia and have no certain knowledge as to the cause of his misery.

"I'm a confirmed dyspeptic. That's the reason I look so old,' said Mr. Collander, gazing almost enviously at the red bronze face had dropped down from the country into Mr. Collander's city

Contagious Blood Poison

There is no poison so highly contagious, so deceptive and so destructive. Don't be too sure you are cured because all external signs of the disease have disappeared, and the doctor says you are well. Many persons have been dosed with Mercury and Potash for months or years, and pronounced cured—to realize when too late that the disease was only covered up—

Like Bogots Likes, surface to break out again, and to their sorrow and mortifi cation find those nearest and dearest to them have been infected by this loath-some disease, for no other poison is so mirely transmitted from parent to child as this. ### Why They Were Selected.

It has been recorded that Gen. Henry Knox, in 1783, was the 'greatest" of eleven distinguished officers of the army, weighing two hundred and eighty pounds. Noah Brooks, in his book entitled "Henry Knox," gives the following incident relating to the general's full habit:

With a Captain Sargent, he was selected to present the hard case of the starving and naked men at Valley Forge to the attention of a committee of Congress. One of the Congressmen, wishing to show his wit and sarcasm, said that he had never seen a fatter man than General Knox, nor a better dressed man than his associate. Knox managed to keep his temper and remained silent, but his subordinate retorted: "The corps, out of respect to Congress, and themselves, have sent as their representatives the only man who had an ounce of superfluous flesh Se quieren hombres y mucha- on his body and the only other chos para deshijar, limpiar, escar- who possessed a complete suit of
